Thank you, Careline

This is an open letter to thank Careline for their ongoing support of our mission.

Many businesses work in the growing field of healthcare for the elderly, but few decide to support the effort to discover the effective medical treatments which older people need to lead active, fulfilling lives. Careline have seen the need and led the way in corporate responsibility with a generous donation and an ongoing future commitment to SENS Foundation Europe.

The SENS Research Foundation funds scientific research in laboratories and universities around the world to discover ways to repair the various types of biological damage which accumulate in our tissues and which eventually cause age related disease. This approach will bring treatments for such debilitating conditions as osteoarthritis, atherosclerosis and age related macular degeneration.

Our vision is that one day older people will no longer have to live with inevitably deteriorating health, but will instead live their later years with vigour and independence.

We are delighted that Careline share that vision, and through their support, they help us to bring that day closer.

Yours faithfully

Darren Reynolds
